Senate Upholds Coolidge In Veto To Pension Bill

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Coolidge today won the first skirmish in his fight to prevent Congress appropriating money "outside the budget."

The Senate, by the narrow margin of one vote, sustained Mr. Coolidge in his veto of the Bursum pension increase bill.

The vote was fifty-three in favor of overriding the veto and twenty-eight in favor of sustaining. As eighty-one senators voted, it would have required fifty-four votes to nullify the veto.

Today's action kills the bill definitely.

The President's stand against this measure, which, he said, was one of those measures that threatened to convert the treasury surplus into a deficit and make tax reduction impossible, was sustained with the aid of Democratic senators.

Of the twenty-eight votes sustaining Mr. Coolidge, sixteen were Democratic and twelve Republican.

The President, in his veto message said the bill for the next fiscal year would cost the government $58,000,000.

Says Packers Seeking to Control Food

DALLAS, Tex., May 13.—The packing industry is seeking to control distribution of food products, speakers charged today at the opening of the annual convention of the American Wholesale Grocers' association here.

"The big five packers are moving to destroy the whole sale grocery business," J. H. McLaurin, Jacksonville, Fla., association president, charged.

"The association will fight them to the end," he added.

McLaurin accused the packers of violating an agreement to cease handling unrelated commodities.

RAIL RATE CUT PLAN IS TOLD

Measure Seeks to Prevent Roads Giving Lower Rates For Long Hauls

—Radiograms received at navy headquarters here this morning reported renewed "woolies"—heavy wind storms—in the region of the island of Attu where American round-the-world aviators expected to hop off for the Kurile islands.

The messages said plans for a start today had not yet been abandoned but that the weather did not look favorable.

Lieutenants Lowell Smith, Leigh Wade and Erik Nelson had their planes ready to hop off when the storm broke.

This flight, the most dangerous of the entire globe circling trip, will be made over 878 miles of open water which separates the Aleutian from the Kurile islands.

On Asiatic Side

When they arrive at Paramushiru, Kurile islands, they will be on the Asiatic side of the Pacific ocean.

Today's proposed flight ranks as probably the most hazardous adventure ever undertaken by airmen in times of peace.

The country is noted for its violent windstorms, known as "woolies" or "wille waws" with which the aviators already have had experiences.

On arrival at the island of Attu No. 4 plane, piloted by Lieut. Erik Nelson, was caught in a "woolie" and blown from its moorings into angry water. Skillful piloting by Nelson alone saved it from serious damage.

All Hands Drenched

Saturday the three flyers attempted to devote work on their planes but again the "woolies" came up, drenched all hands with rain and snow and forced them to take refuge on the Eider.

The wind increased steadily and soon was blowing great sheets of water across the little bay. It reached a velocity of 60 to 70 miles an hour and the water it hurled through the air practically obscured the planes from the view of those aboard the Eider.

Additional anchors were placed with the aid of Captain Bent of the Eider and the planes apparently rode out the storm without damage.

"There is no doubt but that the Aleutian islands hold the record for variety and frequency of storm," Lieut. Smith, in command, told the United Press.

Expect Better Weather

"But we are looking forward to better weather on leaving here and the personnel of our expedition would be in excellent spirits if Major Martin were with us."

On the night of the receipt of word that Major Martin was safe the men cheered wildly and engaged in all the celebration this almost uncivilized country would permit.

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—With all spectators ordered from the courtroom, a guard of twelve deputies was called for by Judge Arthur Keetch, during the murder trial of Lewis Perry, Ed Montejo and Tom Bailer, charged with killing Policeman Glen Bond.

Warned by rumors that reached him from underworld sources that there would be a desperate attempt to shoot up the courtroom at the opening of the trial, Judge Keetch ordered the deputies stationed at every door and on patrol about the room.

The court, according to the plot, planned to kidnap the bailiff and escape with the prisoners to automobiles waiting outside, spiriting them away to the mountains.

The court's move, however, is believed to have frustrated any plans the underworld pals of the three defendants may have had to secure their forcible release.

VICTORIES OF LIBERALS IN EUROPEAN ELECTIONS CAUSE FEAR AMONG U. S. LEADERS

Party Chiefs Foresee Mighty Struggle For Power In November Election Following Sweeping Gains Made By Socialist Element Abroad

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The victorious sweep of liberalism in Europe is not being overlooked by American politicians, trying to pierce the veil behind which is hidden the outcome of this year's campaign.

The most thoughtful of them, with the examples of England and France before them, foresee a mighty struggle in the United States this fall between the same forces which have battled in the English and French elections.

Great Britain deposed from power her conservatives and near liberals for a labor government frankly socialist.

France has just been swept by liberal sentiment. The American government, insofar as its legislative machine is concerned, is controlled today by the liberals and in the country there is a powerful surge of sentiment towards them.

Competent observers here are inclined to believe that the United States will share in what appears to be a world-wide readjustment, one of a series which have followed the war. These observers say the world is by gradual settling "movements" finding its stable level.

G. O. P. CENTRAL BODY FOR P. O. AT ATWOOD

Recommendation of Mrs. Nannie Phinney as postmaster at Atwood, recommendation that a post office be established at Atwood, formerly Richfield, and endorsement of P. A. Stanton of Seal Beach, as national central committeeman for California, featured a meeting of the Orange county Republican central committee held at St. Ann's Inn here last night, it became known today.

Not content with promises of action on farm relief measures, the Progressives, who have moved the Senate to their bidding throughout this session, have quietly made plans to force immediate lowering of freight rates.

The first hint of this purpose was given when Senator Pittman of Nevada, acting from the Democratic side, tackled the "long and short haul bill" upon the war department appropriation measure.

It is realized that rail legislation could not be acted upon if it was taken up in order, so the expedient of adding to it an appropriation bill has been used.

The band of Progressives and Democrats are determined to force a vote on the amendment today, possibly before the session adjourns.

The long and short haul bill reported out of the interstate commerce committee by its Democratic chairman, Senator Smith, is vigorously opposed by the railroads. Briefly it would prevent them from charging a lower rate for a long haul than for a short haul.

It has previously been the custom of roads, according to charges made by Pittman on the floor, to reduce their rates along the water ways where rates were cheap.

Pittman said that these low rates were merely given to chase steamboats out of business.

Now the charge is made that transcontinental rates have been lowered by the railroads to hurt shipping from coast to coast through the Panama canal. Pittman says if their plan was carried out as planned by the interstate commerce commission, half the shipping of the Panama canal would be killed off within a short time.

ASKS RIGHT TO BRING OCEAN INTO L. A.

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—In San Francisco and other unfriendly sections they relate with glee and laugh the story about the Los Angeles booster who was told if he could suck as hard as he could blow, the Pacific Ocean would be lapping at the city's gates.

But the booster will have a chance to turn the laugh if a proposal made by George P. Stevenson, before the board of harbor commissioners today, finds favor.

Stevenson plans to spend $3,660,000 in constructing a huge ship canal from the harbor now some 20 miles away, to the industrial section of Los Angeles, terminating at Slauson avenue and Main street.

All setverson asks is a right-of-way and a reasonable rental for use of the canal. He plans docking space for six freighters and three by-passes along the way where vessels may meet.

LAUNCH PROBE AS INJURY TO NURSE FATAL

The death late yesterday of Mrs. Iva M. Cummings, local nurse, who was involved in an automobile crash at Culver's corner, near Irvine, was the subject of an inquest in progress here today to determine the responsibility of Han Hansworth, escort of the woman, who was at the wheel of the death car.

Mrs. Cummings died at the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Hansworth, arraigned late yesterday before Justice J. B. Cox on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was held in the county jail here today under $3000 bail.

This charge, filed before the death of Mrs. Cummings, will not be changed by the development of a fatality in the case. District Attorney A. P. Nelson stated.

"We will proceed to prosecute Hansworth under the 'intoxication' charge and will ask for a penitentiary sentence instead of the customary jail term for conviction upon such a charge," said the district attorney.

"We will not bring a manslaughter charge in connection with cases such as this, until we get a decision upon one or the other of two manslaughter cases now pending in court here."

The Cummings inquest was scheduled to be held at 3 p. m. today in the Smith and Tutill funeral chapel here. The district attorney's office would be represented at the proceedings, it was said.

Mrs. Cummings, 40, a widow nurse living at 1514 North Broadway, sustained a skull fracture and five broken ribs when a car in which she was riding with Hansworth plunged through a fence at Culver's corner at 3 a. m. Sunday. The woman was hurled twenty-five feet from the car.

Hansworth escaped without serious injury. When arrested he gave his age as 39 and his residence as 305 Spurgeon street.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, May 13.—Residents of Jethro, a suburb, today were moving from their homes as the 35-foot flood stage in the Ohio River seemed inevitable before night. The water stood at 31.8 feet at 10 a. m. and was rising slowly.

PHYSICIANS STUDY CHECK CASE BEAUTY

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—Betty Ann Thompson, pretty Portland, Ore., matron, was in the county hospital today in hopes physicians may determine if her tendency to write checks which come back "no funds" is a habit or an ailment.

The girl's parents have offered to take her back home but do not wish her released on bail until they can reach here, fearing perhaps, that she may start looking for a pen and check book again.

When arrested some weeks ago, Betty Ann said she was heiress to a large fortune and that she and the husband who deserted her had a pile of money in the bank which he took out without her knowledge when he left. Hence her difficulties.

Two Slain, One Suicide Due To Fight For Fresh Air In Office

CHICAGO, May 13.—A fresh air dispute caused the death of three men here today—two shot to death and the third a suicide.

John C. Gardner, 60, an inspector for the Illinois Malleable Iron company, shot and killed Herman Krause, 40, and R. W. Wilcox, 34, also inspectors. Gardner also took a shot at a third man but missed, threatened thirty-five other employees and then ran a half mile from the plant to a vacant lot and committed suicide.

A son of Wilcox started the trouble when he insisted on keeping open the window in the office occupied by the inspectors and other employees. Gardner argued against keeping the window open on the grounds that the cold air made him ill.

Today Gardner walked into the office and ordered that the window be closed. Young Wilcox refused and Krause sided with him. Gardner walked out and returned with a revolver. The shooting followed.

Last Year's Panamas Relegated To Heap On This, Straw Hat Day

BY "OLD EGG"

A lot of wise crackers with ultra-modern ideas learned today that it takes more than a 1923 handful of hay gassed up and rebounded to make a 1924 model straw derby.

Consequently, there were a number of disappointed sheiks with us today.

Today, lads and lassies, is Straw Hat day.

But the old thatch of former years won't do.

The new models can be distinguished at once from the ex-new ones and the fly specks of last year don't suffice to camouflage the old katy enough to get it by.

It is a far cry from the egg editor to the straw hat feature writer but one has to cackle about something.

Likewise, the bugs who bought a Panama last year while listening to the dulcet tones of the salesman to the effect that "a little cleaning and it will be all right for next year, found themselves today in the wrong pew.

Hair You Envy

I offer you what brought it
By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is the envy of thousands who see it, on the stage and elsewhere. It is heavy, silky, lustrous—far finer than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, never a touch of gray. Yet mine is a grandmother's age.

I owe this to a formula which French experts made for me. I have supplied it to many friends. It has brought to them what it brought to me—luxuriant heads of hair. Now, by countless requests, I am placing this formula within every woman's reach. Men are also welcome to it.

Use an eye dropper

I call this formula my Hair Youth. One applies it with an eye dropper, directly to the scalp. Apply just enough to dampen the scalp. This takes but a minute and it does not muss the hair.

It attacks the hardened oil and dandruff, which stifle the hair roots. It cleans the scalp, stimulates and fertilizes. Then hair

Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 with eye dropper. They also supply my Youth Cream. COUNCIL WOULD PAY COST OF LIGHTING SINGLE LAMP OF ORNAMENTAL STANDARD

Illumination of one lamp on each of the posts of the ornamental lighting systems on East and West Fifth streets and West Fourth street, with the city paying the bill until such time as the council may determine definitely how money will be raised to pay for the current, was under consideration today, by the city council, following suggestion by Mayor J. W. Tubbs, made at the council meeting last night, that this course be adopted as a temporary measure.

Councilmen E. B. Collier and George McPhee were absent from the meeting, and for this reason action on the suggestion was not taken last night. Residents on the two streets should not be alarmed if they find lights in the system burning some night this week," the mayor commented, as the body adjourned.

Citing the fact that since two lamps on each standard on the North Main street system had been dark since institution of an order cutting down the juice to conserve electricity, Tubbs suggested that the money saved be used in paying for current for the other systems.

To Buy Garbage Truck.
"Half a loaf is better than no loaf," said the mayor. "Owners have provided the systems and we should make some attempt to have them lighted."

At the same time the mayor intimated that when the problem of paying for lighting of ornamental systems is finally developed by an assessment district, the costs of maintenance of the North Main street system also would be charged up to property owners on that street.

His remark was interpreted to mean that assessment districts would be formed under which the property owners on the streets where ornamental systems are maintained will be assessed to pay a large percentage of the costs. Returning to the council chambers following a five-minute executive session, the council directed the city clerk to advertise for bids supplying the city with a new sweeper and a two or two and a half ton truck. Bids to be opened on the night of June 2. The action indicated that the council in executive session had decided that the equipment was necessary. The truck will be used in garbage collection. The street sweeper, it was said by W. G. Knox, street superintendent, is sorely needed, as the present equipment is about worn out.

The city clerk also was instructed to advertise for bids for laying a new sewer main in Fourth street, French to Ross streets, bids to be opened June 2. A twelve-inch line is to be laid at an estimated cost of $1500, the city paying the costs. The line will take the place of the one now extending east and west in the center of the block between

Will You Aid This Plan To End War?

In the event of a declaration of war, the property, equally with the persons, lives, and liberties of all citizens, shall be subject to conscription for the defense of the Nation, and it shall be the duty of the President to propose and of Congress to enact the legislation necessary to give effect to this amendment.

Above is a summary of The Christian Science Monitor's Peace Plan, designed to render war as repellent to everyone as it is to those who fight, and thus make war less probable.

This plan has called forth nation-wide approval. The Monitor has received letters of indorsement from every State, and favorable editorial comment has appeared in newspapers all over the country.

In Washington, an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, providing that money and property, as well as men, be drafted in time of war, as advocated in the Monitor's Peace Plan, was recommended to the House Military Affairs Committee by Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, also spoke in favor of mobilizing capital as well as men in the event of war, as a means of making war less probable, declaring: "War is an unhappy business, and the great bulk of our ordinary safeguards of life must be forgotten and the more evident it is that the whole Nation will be put in the storm and made to bear its share of the sacrifice, the less likely we are to go to war."

To the end that the people of this country may have the opportunity of commenting and voting on The Christian Science Monitor's Peace Plan, there will be published in the Monitor of May 8 a number of articles by leading industrialists, lawyers, and others which will fully set forth the plan and tell how it could be put into effect. This issue of the Monitor will also contain three ballots, which will enable all to express their views.

EVERY CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES SHOULD READ AND VOTE FOR IT.

The Christian Science Monitor, Issue of May 8th, will be on sale Wednesday, May 14th, at news stands and Christian Science Reading Rooms.

Delay Argument In $14,000 Suit Against Woman

With evidence all presented in the case of the Anaheim National bank, the Golden State bank of Anaheim and the First National bank of Olive, against Mrs. Blanch L. Dolph of San Juan Capistrano, the attorneys interested were today preparing to submit arguments here before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, June 6, at 3 p. m.

In court late yesterday it was stipulated that notes for $12,500 secured from Mrs. Dolph for stock in the Leach Biltwell Motor company, was obtained by fraud. The plaintiffs, however, offered evidence to show that the banks purchased the notes in good faith from the original holders.

Mrs. Dolph alleges that she was given a false impression of the assets and dividends of the company and was told that Charles C. Chapman, Fullerton millionaire, had invested $70,000 in the company.

PERCY POLLOCK

Star Actor Gave Up Leading Role On Broadway to Play Title Part In "Lightnin'"

To give up a leading Broadway role in order to play the title part in the most sensational dramatic success the American theater has ever known, is an experience that falls to the lot of few players, yet this is what happened to Percy Pollock, appearing in "Lightnin'", coming to the Yost theater Thursday and Friday nights, May 22 and 23, in the famous role made vacant by the untimely death of Frank Bacon.

During the early part of last season Pollock was appearing as Eben Coogan in the Frank Craven comedy, "Spite" Corner, in New York, and it was mainly due to the personal wish expressed by Frank Bacon when "Lightnin'" had just started on its record-breaking Broadway run that John Golden and Winchell Smith decided to place the mantle of the deceased Lightnin' Bill on Pollock's shoulders. At that time a possible successor to Bacon was under discussion. The actor himself was present and, turning to Golden, he said: "I've been talking to an actor named Percy Pollock, and if you ever need a successor to me as Lightnin', he's the man."

Of course, the New York critics helped to bring about this decision, for they had unanimously praised the fine acting of Pollock when "Spite Corner" opened on Broadway. Pollock himself was in ignorance that he had been selected until after the final decision had been made.

"I had only two talks with Mr. Bacon," he said at the time, "and saw him in 'Lightnin'' only once. With never a dream I would one day play the part, I left the theater convinced that Lightnin' Bill Jones was the symbol of the imaginative faculty—that precious lightning which stimulates the spiritual in all of us. I hope I will never offend the memory of Frank Bacon by acting Lightnin'. I will try to live him on the stage."

And Pollock has more than justified the faith that was placed in him, not only by Bacon but also by Messrs. Smith and Golden. His notable work in this role during the sensational runs of "Lightnin'" in San Francisco and Los Angeles, was one of the features of the performance, and as a result he has been selected to appear in this role next year when "Lightnin'" receives its London presentation.

JACKIE COOGAN FILM ON WALKER SCREEN

"Let not the hearts of Jackie Coogan's countless admirers be troubled," say the producers of "A Boy in Flanders," now showing at Walker's theater.

"Neither let the hearts of those that know and love Ouida's immortal story, 'A Dog of Flanders,' be dismayed, for," asserts Jack Coogan, Sr., "we do not permit the plot to kill poor little Nello, the gifted but downtrodden child of Flanders. Neither do we disturb the spirit or letter of Ouida's story. If we alter the ending it is in deference to an overwhelming sentiment in favor of the happiness of the orphan-hero and his brave defender, the dog Petrasche."

"Scars of Jealousy," Thomas H. Ince's romantic modern drama of the Southland which closes tonight at the Yost theater is jammed with red-hot thrills, according to advance reports from critics who have previewed it. The story deals with the little known "Calans" or descendants of the Acadians who settled in the mountains of Northern Alabama more than a hundred years ago. It also depicts life as it is really lived today on the big plantations of the South and has for a prologue quite the most pretentious scenes showing court, peasant and city life in the time of Louis XIV of France that the screen has ever seen.

The climax of the picture revolves around a great forest fire, the real thing by the way. These scenes were filmed in Northern California while a forest ranger was clearing out a timber tract.

CALAIS IN 1800 SEEN IN "BEAU BRUMMEL"

An impressive sight was the filming of a street scene of Calais in the 18th period for the production of "Beau Brummel," starring John Barrymore and now showing at the Temple theater.

The street covers half a block, with curbs and cobblestone pavement—one entire side of which is lined with houses typical of the period. The scene was the occasion of the King of England's visit to Calais and the parade through the gayly decorated streets. A company of soldiers with drums and flags; mounted horsemen of the Tenth Hussars, the King's favorite regiment, in brilliant uniforms, and 600 peasants lining the street to pay homage to the King, waving flags and cheering, as well as the King himself in his royal coach (portrayed by Willard Louis) made the procession an imposing one.

Maurice Tournour has drawn from the casts of "Robin Hood" and "The Covered Wagon," for players in the "Brass Bottle," the picture opening tonight at the West End theater.

Natal Day Fete Plan of Grand Central Market

The Grand Central market will celebrate its second anniversary tomorrow, Frank L. Purinton, market manager, announced today. The Grand Central Market block recently celebrated its completion, but the market itself has been in existence exactly two years.

The occasion will be featured by a special sales event from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. At 8 p. m. a free public dance will begin in the big market and continue throughout the evening. Griesby's Club orchestra will furnish the music.

During the dance the merchants there will keep "open house" but only cold drinks and other refreshments will be sold.

Manager Purinton desires to make tomorrow the greatest occasion ever sponsored by the Grand Central market, and invites every one to attend.

47 OF 50 TEACHERS KNOW CONSTITUTION

Ninety-five per cent of the 250 elementary school teachers who took the examinations Saturday on the constitution of the United States will receive passing grades. This was the opinion expressed here today by R. P. Mitchell, county school superintendent, who said that the members of the county board of education are spending their evenings correcting the examination papers. The board members are teaching school during the day, so they hold their board session during the evenings.

"The last legislature passed a law requiring school teachers to pass an examination on the constitution," said Mitchell. "The first examination in this county was held last December, at which time seventy-five teachers took the tests. The next examination will be given next December."

Mitchell said that the test was thorough, and only those familiar with the subject can hope to receive passing grades.

"So far," said Mitchell, "of the 250 papers, fifty have been corrected. Forty-seven passed."

Betrothals Weddings Receptions

Luncheon Guests Gain Much Pleasure From Bridge Afternoon

Luncheon and bridge offered a happy combination to a group of guests who on Saturday responded to the invitation of Miss Vyvian McFarren, entertaining at her home, 412 East Chestnut street.

In planning for the pleasure of her guests, Miss McFarren chose the royal colors of purple and gold for an artistic decorative effect. Sweet peas, toning from pale lavender to deep purple were combined with yellow daisies, which found their setting in dainty gold vases centering the luncheon tables.

Miss McFarren's brunette charm was heightened by a frock of broad brocade in purple and gold, in tones shading into gold and in presiding at the luncheon tables she donned a frivolous little hostess apron of lavender organza thus further carrying out her decorative scheme.

Following the luncheon menu which responded surprisingly to the demands for color harmony, the afternoon was devoted to bridge in which the same effect was attained by the choice of a dainty perfume lamp in lavender and a charming yellow bud vase. These were awarded Mrs. Edwin T. McFadden, holder of high score and Mrs. George Boyd, scoring low.

Six tables were employed and Miss McFarren was assisted in her hostess duties by Mrs. Arthur May. The afternoon was of special significance in that it was one of the final events which the hostess will present as Miss McFarren, the announcement of her mid-summer wedding to Dr. Harry Huffman having been made some time ago, to the interest of a host of friends of the young people. Many pleasant affairs are being planned for the bride-elect and several have already been given in her honor.

Many Lovely Gifts Fall to the Lot Of May Bride

One of the week's pleasantest affairs was a card party and shower presented last night by Miss Stella Halesworth as a pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Inez Pierce, May bride-to-be of Carl Black of this city.

Arriving guests found tables arranged for 500 in a home garlanded with roses in a charming profusion. Miss Halesworth was assisted in greeting her friends, by her mother, Mrs. E. R. Halesworth. Following the merry evening at cards, prize awards were made Miss Catherine Packard, holding high score and Miss Harriet Black, scoring low.

Under the guidance of the hostess, the girls then assembled in an adjoining room where Miss Pierce was taken completely by surprise by the shower of gifts which had been hidden there. All enjoyed her examination of the lovely presents after which places were found by means of dainty cards at tables lovely with white candles and other dainty appointments. Cake and chocolate were served with ices frozen in wedding bell form. The Misses Helen Salisbury, Elin Howard and Daphne Franklin were among the girls who assisted Miss Halesworth in serving.

The wedding of Miss Pierce and Mr. Black will be a church affair on the night of May 20. Since the bride-elect has been honored at many pretty parties and showers, guests last night included Mrs. F. O. Pierce, mother of the honoree, Mrs. E. R. Halesworth, mother of the hostess, Miss Halesworth, Miss Pierce and the Misses Ruth Thomas, May Pierce, Katherine Pierce, Helen Salisbury, Catherine Packard, Henrietta Lykke, Elin Howard, Louise Ford, Harriet Black, Katherine Fitch, Anna Fitch, Daphne Franklin, Jennie Nelson and Mrs. Esther Hall.

On the following evening, a feast and games on the beach at Balboa were enjoyed by a jolly crowd gathered together by Mrs. Lombard and Mrs. Carl Baker to surprise Miss Kilby. Weiners, buns, pickles and soda pop came first, the games followed, and ice cream cones came as a finale.

Late in the evening the crowd invaded the pavilion for an hour of dancing. The merry-makers included Mrs. Lombard and Mrs. Baker, the perpetrators, the honoree, Miss Doris Kilby, Miss Semone Thomas, who will also be a bride of June; Mrs. H. C. Grant, Miss Dorothy Veia, Miss Isabel Lopez, Messrs. and Mesdames Walter Bringham, Theo. Cook, G. Wolverton; and Messrs. Carl Baker, Harold Schoeller, Clyde Otto of Corona, and Theo. Billingsmaier.

Stocks, Bonds, Markets and Financial News

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, May 13.—Today's market settled back into the narrow swing in the main body of stocks which characterized the greater part of last week. Professionals failed to bring about a resumption of the previous session's selling movement in the early dealings.

During the balance of the day the trading was made up of the day's part of special movements in individual stocks. In a few groups affected by adverse developments, pressure continued. Coppers were still under the depressing influence of the political disturbances abroad, while tire shares were unsettled by isolated changes of price cutting.

Rails, on the other hand, displayed conspicuous steadiness in the face of a message by the house of the cautiously worded resolution adopted by the senate Monday on the desirability of lower freight rates.

Prices continued to move in a restricted area through the last hour. Some buying came into C. & O. which reached new high ground on the present move.

The market closed higher.

WOMAN'S HAND IN BRITAIN'S NEW BUDGET

LONDON May 12.—Great Britain next Tuesday will have a budget in which, for the first time, a woman will have had a hand in the making.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden, who is responsible for the making of the budget, works with his brilliant wife, Ethel Snowden. All of their married life they have tackled their problems and tasks together and it is stated on the authority of their friends that they have done much work jointly in preparing the budget. The association of ideas between them is complete and intimate, and moreover the health of the chancellor is none too good.

Mrs. Snowden has often been accused of being too pretty to be clever, but she is both. The problems of a Labor budget are more onerous than those of either a Conservative or Liberal government, for the Labor government gains its strength from the laboring and middle classes, and it must lay down a budget which appeals to these classes. Relief for the taxpayer must be given for the man with the small income. Reductions in the higher income taxes would act as a boomerang upon the Labor government and would weaken their strength.

The probabilities are that Snowden will not attempt to mitigate the heavy demands of the income tax, but will devote his attention to lowering the so-called "break-fast table taxes"; that is, the taxes upon tea and sugar, and other household commodities. A very popular move would be a reduction of the beer taxes, but there was a reduction of these taxes last year, and further reductions would lay the Labor government open to the charge of pandering to the beer-drinkers and neglecting other tax-burdened citizens.

Snowden has a surplus of 48,000,000 pounds to give him a flying start, and with estimates already considerably reduced, he should be able to introduce a popular budget which will enhance the strength of the MacDonald government.

SEND SUMMONS TO WORLD LABOR MEET

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A call has just been sent out to the 57 countries, members of the international labor organization, for the sixth annual session of the international labor conference, which will convene in Geneva, Switzerland, June 16, 1924.

The agenda of the conference will consist of the following four items:

1. The development of facilities for the utilization of workers' leisure.

2. Equality of treatment for national and foreign workers as regards workmen's compensation for accidents.

3. Weekly suspension of work for 24 hours in glass manufacturing processes where tank furnaces are used.

4. Night work in bakeries.

The first item on the agenda is introduced due to the prevalence of the eight-hour day and the resultant increases of the leisure time of workers, which should be utilized for recreational and educational purposes.

Consideration of the second item is necessary due to the continual migration of workers from one country to another, particularly in Europe. Before the war most of the European nations had treaties of treatment to reciprocal equality of treatment of the respective nationals under the compensation laws. It is hoped that this may be resumed on a large scale.

The weekly suspension of work in glass manufacturing processes where tank furnaces are used is another effort toward a universal recognition of the one day's rest in industry. It is practically only in continuous processes that this weekly rest day has not yet been established, by law and by custom.

The question of night work in bakeries is primarily one of industrial hygiene, it being far more advantageous to the health of the worker to be employed during the day.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A communication has been received by the International Labor office from the government of the Union of South Africa informing it that the South African government is ratifying the draft convention adopted at the international labor conference held in Washington concerning unemployment.

It is also provided that the operations of the various national systems shall be co-ordinated by the International Labor office in agreement with the countries concerned.

JUNIOR, SENIOR CHAMBERS HERE AGREE TO PROPOSAL FOR CO-ORDINATING WORK

Adopting a plan approved and submitted by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Santa Ana's young men's organization, known as Santa Ana, Inc., since the name of Junior Chamber of Commerce had been denied by the senior Chamber, today had been reorganized under the name of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce with the pledged purpose of co-operating and co-ordinating its work with the senior Chamber of Commerce.

The reorganization took place at a meeting of the junior organization held last night in Ketter's banquet hall at which session a merger plan presented by the Chamber of Commerce was almost unanimously adopted.

This plan will permit the junior organization to have three members on the board of directors of the senior Chamber of Commerce, and that body at present is reported to be preparing amendment to its by-laws so that the junior representation on the board will be legal. The Junior Chamber likewise agreed to permit three members of the Chamber of Commerce to have places on the young men's board of directors.

Good Will Shown.

It was reported at last night's meeting that this was the only instance known in which a Chamber of Commerce has allowed another organization to elect its own members to hold places on the Chamber board of directors.

Acceptance of the chamber's plan also binds the senior organization to present to the younger body the charter of the incorporated Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In presenting the plan for co-operation, which embodies points regarding age limits and certain restricted activity of the junior organization, the message from the older civic leaders stated:

"We appreciated the fair-minded manner in which your committee has come to and sought to co-operate with us in reaching a friendly understanding and agreement in this matter."

Briefly, the points involved in the co-operation plan adopted by both organizations are as follows:

The name "Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce" shall be resumed by the Santa Anas, Inc.

Only male persons between the ages of 18 and 35 years shall be eligible for membership, provided that those from the ages of 30 to 35 years shall also be members in good standing in the senior Chamber of Commerce.

Other Plans Accepted.

All committees of importance in either organization must be represented by one member of the other organization, such member to be appointed by the Chamber which he represents.

Desk room with heat, light and telephone service all free will be provided by the senior organization for the Junior Chamber at the headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce.

Each Chamber will have fourteen directors of equal power, three of whom shall be elected by the other co-ordinating organization.

All important undertakings in the industrial program of the Junior Chamber must have the approval of the board of directors of the senior body.

The senior organization shall present to the Juniors its recently acquired charter for the incorporated Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce.

After a lengthy and spirited discussion for and against the proposition, a vote was taken with the result that the complete plan was adopted by an overwhelming majority.

Elect Officers.

Immediately following this action, nominations were made for an entire set of officers and directors, to serve one year, with at least three nominations being made for each office. The number of vice-presidents, according to the new by-laws, was cut from five to two, and seven directors were elected to sit on the board with the other officers. The secretary, the only appointive officer, will be chosen by the board of directors next week, it was announced.

The results of last night's election were as follows:

L. R. Crawford, president; Stanley Clem, first vice-president; Norman Henderson, second vice-president; William Iverson, J. C. Walden, and Carl Mock, members of the board of directors of the senior Chamber of Commerce; L. A. Hart, treasurer; Ernest Winbiger, John Cannon, Ed C. Holmes, Stanley Goode, F. L. McCune, Charles Kendall and Charles V. Doly, members of the Junior Chamber board of directors. Three more directors of the Junior Chamber are to be elected by the senior Chamber of Commerce.

The organization at last night's session went on record as recommending the purchase of stock in the Ullmer Machinery corporation, previously endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce, and which soon will establish a factory in Santa Ana. It was reported that the Juniors yesterday solicited $15,000 to help finance the new industry.

Program Given.

A high class entertainment was offered, the program being opened and closed by Chris Ema, who kept the audience in an uproar during his monologues.

Jack Beattie won much applause and was several times encoored for his vocal rendition of appropriate songs.

The feature of the entertainment, however, was a three-act musical presentation by talented pupils of Mrs. Ollimae Enlow Matthews.

The opening number of this part of the program was a violin duet of "Cavalliera Rusticana," played by Donald Woodington and Norman Ruoff, accompanied by Mrs. Ionia T. Peak at the piano.

Miss Elizabeth Wright, who recently returned from a musical tour of the United States and Canada, won favor with a violin solo, Valdez's "Gypsy Serenade," and was encoored three times after playing an unnamed composition of her own.

Dancila's "Le Retour" rendered by four violins, featuring Loren Cannon, Miss Elizabeth Wright, Miss Helen Lutz and James Workman received great applause, and was encoored with Dant's "Larghetto" by the same violin quartette.

The committee which had charge of the program consisted of "Jimmy" Ryan, "Bum" McCormick and Norman Henderson.

California Pays
2 Million Taxes

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—Total collections of internal revenue taxes in the Southern California district for April were $2,193,122.19, of which $1,638,122 was income taxes and $555,000 miscellaneous taxes.

Collector Rex B. Goodell here said that the April increase in income tax receipts was in line with the steady growth of federal collections.

April was the tenth month of the fiscal year. Collector Goodell said and the total collections for that period were $40,931,036, while for the corresponding period of last year the receipts were $36,727,551, an increase of $4,203,485 for the present period.

POLICE ACT AS BELLBOYS TO GET THIEF

NEW YORK, May 13.—Detectives disguised as bellboys have been working at several of the leading hotels for the last two weeks. It was revealed following the arrest at the Hotel Prince George of Louis Cortese, 21 years old, of 160 One Hundredth street, who was taken to police headquarters charged with rifling several hotel rooms.

Complaints to the police and managers of several hotels of thefts while guests were away from their rooms, the police said, resulted in the employment of the detectives.

Entrance to the rooms evidently was gained with pass keys.

One of the detective bellboys went up an elevator to the eighth floor of the Prince George with a well dressed young man, described as Cortese.

The "bellboy" said he watched the young man try keys in the doors of rooms 840 and 839. Unable to open the doors, because they were bolted, he descended to the seventh floor, where he entered by means of a pass key. It is charged, the room of Charles Vient of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. Vient is in Los Angeles, according to the police, but is expected back in New York within a few days. His room was entered and clothing valued at $180 and a bag were stolen.

See Heavy Tourist
Travel in Summer
LOS ANGELES, May 13.—With five sections of the Santa Fe's California Limited already arranged for with possibilities of running at least six sections of the fast train in addition to a number of extra cars and sections on the additional trains, the "Back East" excursion season will be opened by the company May 22 under very bright auspices, according to James B. Duffy, general passenger agent. Figures show a good outlook for heavy passenger and tourist travel this way for the summer, the traffic official declared. The rate for the round trip east amounts to but little more than the one-way fare, Duffy stated.

'LAGUNA' TABOO FOR CITY SANS HOT DOGS AT OCEAN SIDE

'Beach' Must Be Added to Distinguish Rendezvous of Artists

CHAMBER USES 'CLUB'

City Doubling Population Every Year Doing Best to Fix Its Identity

Citizens of the town nestled at the foot of Laguna canyon have arisen against the use of the name "Laguna" in referring to their town.

"Call it Laguna Beach or nothing," said Norman H. Robotham, chairman of the publicity committee of the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce, here today.

"We are making a bid for the Canadian tourist trade," he went on to say, "and we don't want the name of our village spread far and wide as 'Laguna.' It is Laguna Beach, by the sea."

Robotham then enumerated the different towns in the southland known as "Laguna" none of which has the suffix "beach."

"The Laguna in New Mexico is inhabited by Indians. The Laguna in Los Angeles is a shack town. The Laguna in Santa Barbara county is too small to mention. The Laguna in Santa Cruz county is in the same fix. The Laguna in Imperial county is in the same fix."

"No longer is the slogan of our town to be spread as 'The Beach That is Different.' We have something no other beach has. We have no jazz amusements. Robotham followed up his "Yes, We Have No Bananas" declaration by revealing that Laguna Beach is in reality "The Riviera of America" and that persons with a complex for having balls at doll racks must go elsewhere for their favorite sport.

To Change Signs
"If you must eat hot dogs at Laguna Beach bring them yourselves," said the publicity committee chairman. "We have no cheap

DONALD MEAD

Introducing Donald Mead, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Mead, who, despite his tender years, is already more than a cosmopolitan and has traveled more thousands of miles than falls to the lot of the average human being.

He was born in Pekin, China, last April, while his daddy remained at Wuhu, Anhwei province, China, as a representative of the Standard Oil company, his mother arrived with him in the United States to spend a vacation.

Mrs. Mead now has booked passage on the Dollar line steamer, President Harrison, which will sail August 12 from San Pedro for China, where she will rejoin her husband. Of course, little Donald will accompany her, thus adding more mileage to his record.

Although the little chap was born in China he is an American citizen. His parents attended promptly to the little details of taking up his case with the legation at Pekin, which in turn conferred with the proper authorities at Washington, so that in due course little Donald was a real

COUNTY JUDGES 'FOR' MEAL AS DIVORCE BAN

Sunday Dinner 'Works' In One Case; Says Husband Attention Essential

Three Orange county judges, it was learned here today, are heartily in sympathy with the "sentence" which a Chicago judge imposed upon a couple who faced him in divorce court and which resulted in the pair's deciding to forget their marital difficulties.

The "sentence" consisted of the judicial suggestion that the wife prepare an elaborate Sunday dinner.

She carried out the suggestion by preparing a luscious lemon pie; fried chicken; onion soup; hot biscuits and honey, to say nothing of mashed potatoes with a well of melted butter in the crater.

The dinner "worked like a charm," the couple told the court—strife was forgotten.

Two of the judges of the superior court here, R. Y. Williams and F. C. Drumm, admitted that there was a great deal in their experience to certify the Chicago reconciliation as authentic and the plan followed there as admirable.

"Only I don't know about the onion soup," remarked Judge Drumm doubtfully.

Judge Z. B. West, dean of the Orange county bench also gave corroborative opinion and added a few remarks of a serious nature: "I believe that a very large share of domestic trouble is the fault of the husband," he said earnestly.

"You know how it is. Before marriage the man will pet the girl and convince her that she is the very sweetest individual on earth. Then after they are married he becomes lax in his attentions, perhaps forms a habit of staying away from home evenings and maybe doesn't explain where he's been. And if anything goes wrong at home he sulks and won't talk to her."

"That's the start of it. If a man would treat his wife with consideration, help her when she's tired out by the housework, help wash the dishes occasionally, bring in the wood and show her something like the attention he did before they were married—there would be infinitely less domestic trouble."

"It's been my observation that ninety-nine times out of a hundred if a man treats his wife right she will be loyal and true to him through everything."

HEALTH MEN IN 'TRICK' ROLES SOMETIMES

Succumb to Complexes of Some Women to Perform Variety of Tasks

Mysteries regarding a new diversion in Santa Ana—playing games with the city health department—were unraveled here today.

The pastime, in which the players participate more or less unwittingly, is most popular among women, it was learned.

M. J. McCurdy, deputy health officer, "let the cat out of the bag," commenting on the fact that one night last week a woman on West Fourth street telephoned to the police that her little son was kidnapped by a man who told the child he'd never see his mother again.

The little lad wandered back to his mother just as the police auto arrived, and he explained he had not been "grabbed" by anyone.

"That's nothing," McCurdy declared. "We get very urgent calls every day from persons who want to kidnap—not persons, but poor harmless little animals."

"Some of these calls," he continued, "are from excited persons who demand that we hurry immediately to their homes because something terrible has happened."

Answering one of these calls last week, a woman met us breathlessly at the street curb and then asked us if we did not think the goats next door looked hungry.

"Officer Bob Elliott and I answered a call of distress the other day. A man informed us a little kitten in his yard had been run over and he wanted us to kill it. We had to go several miles to his home to perform this deed, while he could have put the little pet out of its misery instantly by knocking its head with a stick. Well, Bob shot the cat and we started away."

"You aren't going to leave this body here, are you?" the helpless nuisance asked. So I played the part of undertaker and buried the kitten under a nearby tree. The ungrateful man then demanded that we cover over a tiny puddle of blood near the tree, but instead we threw the shovel at him."

"The other day a woman called us to the north part of town. Something was dead around her house. As far as I was able to learn there was a dead rat in the rafters of her house, and she insisted that we find it and bury it."

"Another woman in the west part of the city called at noon for the health officer to get a stray dog. When Poundmaster W. C. Fawcett reached her house immediately after being notified, the woman said: 'Oh, I don't know where the dog is now. He went through my yard at 9 o'clock this morning.'

"Day before yesterday a woman with a sobbing voice phoned that she had a sick Angola cat that she wished taken to the county hospital and given a painless death by chloroform. The obliging poundmaster himself administered the anaesthetic in the lavatory of the hospital."

"If a dog starts barking, there are many persons in Santa Ana who immediately will phoned the health department, police station or poundmaster to report a 'mad dog' in the vicinity."

"Of all the ridiculous calls that come to the city hall, I think the health department gets its full share."

S. A. GIRLS VYING HERE FOR MOOSE BEAUTY HONORS CAST FROWN ON IMMODESTY TALK

Entrants and prospective entrants in the beauty and popularity contest being conducted here by Santa Ana lodge No. 1025, Loyal Order of Moose, with a trip to New York city as a prize offered the winner, received with coldness the news from Atlantic City, N. J., that the Federation of Women's Clubs of that state had turned a cold shoulder on bathing-girl parades and beauty reviews.

Despite the edict of the Eastern club-women branding beauty carnivals as immodest, more and more Santa Ana young women are coming forward as candidates for the honor of being chosen the most beautiful and popular girl in Orange county, according to Frank M. Brown, who is conducting the contest for the local lodge of Moose.

The latest to enter the lists of Venus is Miss Billie Walters of his city. She joined her friends, the Misses Edith and Louise Elliott and Clarice Cummings in declaring emphatically that they saw no harm in what the clubwomen termed "promiscuous displays of beauty."

As entries in the Moose contest increase, Brown stated, interest in the affair continues to mount.

"The prospect that the winner of the Santa Ana contest may be chosen from among young women from numerous other cities throughout the country to be crowned as 'Miss America,' is one that brings a thrill to every girl," Brown said.

Contestants are being registered at the Leo Hartfield jewelry store at 106 East Fourth street, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

HOLDS CRUCIFIX FOR KIDNAPED 'BABY' FOUND

The picture of a woman on her deathbed, who spent the best years of her life searching in vain for her kidnapped golden-haired, blue-eyed baby, giving her a tiny onyx cross set in gold, to be given to the boy if he ever was found, came rushing back in the memory of Mrs. H. H. Dicke of Newport Beach, today as she told of reading an account in The Register of a man who walked into the office of the chief of police at Joplin, Mo., and declared he was the Freddie Lieb, abducted fifty-three years ago.

Mrs. Dicke has sent for the cross, which is stored with her household goods in Portland, Ore., and when she learns definitely that the man who lived fifty-three years of his life as Robert T. Clark is the long-lost Freddie Lieb, it will be forwarded to him as a perpetual token of a mother's love which never waned in the long, misty years he was gone and who ever believed in her heart that God would restore her son to her.

Surrounded by her relatives, with the exception of her musician husband who had left her to marry another woman and live in Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Lieb is

EXPECT S. A. THROG WILL GREET MUNICIPAL BAND IN CONCERT AT H. S. TONIGHT

Prepared to greet one of the youngest and at the same time most successful organization of its kind in the United States, music lovers of the city are expected to turn out en masse here tonight to attend the concert which the Santa Ana Municipal band will present at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

With the brilliant leadership of Director D. C. Cianfoni and the vibrant solos of John Ardizoni, dramatic baritone, as among the outstanding features of the evening, the concert is certain to win more than usual enthusiastic applause, according to band executives.

Still another feature on the program which has created much interest here is the triumphal march, "The Fascisti," which Director Cianfoni wrote in honor of the victory of the "Black Shirts" in Italy. This inspiring composition, with its unbroken strain of triumphant notes and swinging rhythm, has won the highest praise from critics wherever it has been played.

A lively sale of tickets, with the bandmen themselves among the most ardent boosters for the concert, has marked the past few days' activity with the result that forecasts are being made that but few seats will remain unoccupied when the curtain "rings up" tonight.

Following is complete program:

1. Overture, "Stadella," Flotow.
2. Selection, "Martha," Flotow.
3. Vocal solo, "Pari Siam," from "Rigoletto," Verdi, by J. Ardizoni, dramatic baritone.
4. Selection, "The Prince of Pilsen," G. Luder.
5. Selection, "Il Trovatore," Verdi.
6. Waltz, "The Skaters," E. Waldteufel.
7. Vocal solo, "Dio Possente," from "Faust," Gounod, by J. Ardizoni.
8. "Angels," from "Scenes Pittoresques," J. Massenet.
9. Selection, "Carmen," Bizet.
10. Triumphal March, "The Fascisti," D. C. Cianfoni.

Shortly before leaving Santa Ana last night for a conference in Los Angeles, Attorney Otto Sanaker of defense counsel stated that he expected the bond to be filed today or tomorrow.

Sentenced to serve 180 days in the county jail here and to pay a fine of $600, the maximum penalty provided by law, Albrexstondare faces a second prosecution in Los Angeles county, a similar charge having been brought against him in Pasadena. His preliminary hearing is set for May 15 in that city.

Adventures Told
Not until after he had been convicted by a jury of eleven men and one woman in the superior court here of Judge Z. B. West did the adventurous past of Albrexstondare come out.

His efforts in behalf of the "common people" has led, he said today, to many a European country and had resulted in his intimate acquaintance with the leaders of revolutionary movements who sought to throw off the chains of kings and install a new order of things.

As such, he admitted that he had:

Served as expert advisor to the leader of the Russian revolution in 1904.

Been commissioned as a major general in the forces of Victoriano Carranza in his revolt against the government of Porfirio Diaz, in Mexico in 1911.

Served as captain in the forces of the South African republic in the Boer war in 1904.

It was the reopening of old wounds sustained in the many battles in which he claims he took part that caused his delay in reaching court on the second day of his trial, forcing the court to cancel the morning session of court, he said.

New Light on Age
In view of his asserted militaristic adventures a new light is shed upon his declaration that even though he may not be 90 years old, at least he is several years older than the 30 years he looks.

Persons who have seen him say he looks like 30. If he fought in the Boer war and is 30 years old now he would have shouldered a gun before he was a year old.

To prove his assertion that he did serve in the Boer war he said he could effect clippings and produce photographs of himself as a captain in the army of Sir Jan Smuts.

Thus, it would appear that while he donned the mantle of a latter day Byron he used his sensational knowledge of dietetics and good marksmanship instead of poetry to further the cause of the enchained ones.

As a part of the preparations administered to two Orange girls, Evelyn Rohrs and Myrtle Thompson, a glass jar filled with what was described on the stand as "vegetable matter" was introduced. Mrs. Alice Anderson, practical nurse, who admitted she depended on her "elixir" for her "chemical analysis" described this jar as containing the real "elixir" of the "doctor."

GIRL CHAMPION THRILLS EAST IN WORKOUT

Helen Wills Demonstrates Improved Form on Eve Of European Trip

NEW YORK MAY 13.—After a final workout today at Forest Hills Miss Helen Wills, the 18-year-old girl tennis champion, will board the liner Berengaria and start for Europe, where she may be crowned the queen of the court.

The California girl played in the rain yesterday afternoon at Forest Hills and she gave such a demonstration of improved form that serious-faced officials and wise critics smiled and more than hinted "it looks like she can do it."

The young champion dropped a set 6-7 to J. S. McCloy one of the best players at the west side club who squared a set against Miss Lenglen during the war. Even though she lost Miss Wills showed such form that a gallery of critics was enthused with the hope that the United States has a real rival now for the French world's champion.

McCloy was instructed to make it hard for the Berkeley miss, and he did. He played a hard, smashing game and directed his attack at her back hand, where she had a slight weakness last year.

Competent critics observed a great improvement in her back hand which she had succeeded in developing into an offensive. Her attack was better and there was found much improvement in her second service. Though the turf was soggy and wet her footwork showed improvement and her game had much more of the savage drive than it had in the past years.

A back stop ten feet high with 25 foot side nets has been built on top deck of the Berengaria so that she can work out daily during the voyage.

The girl champion never has been given to talking and it is almost impossible to get her to say anything about her chances against Miss Lenglen.

"I have no idea," Miss Lenglen play and of course I couldn't say what I will be able to do. I feel now and I hope that I will be able to play my best game. That's all I can promise," she said.

Mrs. Jones Wins Flintridge Cup

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—Mrs. Dan Jones yesterday won honors in the Flintridge women's invitational tournament at the Flintridge country club with a score of 85. She is a medalist in the tournament.

Mrs. Guy Cochran of the Los Angeles Country club was second with a 91 score and Mrs. Ruth Kilian was third with 93.

Mrs. Jones was in capital stroke going out in 46 and coming back in 39. Women's par at Flintridge is 84.

Colima Favored In Vernon Bout

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—Despite the fact he has been beaten by the Englishman, Bert Colima, Whittier Mexican welterweight, is the favorite in his bout at the Vernon arena tonight with Billy Wells, sensational British boxer, who trimmed the coast's pride in their bout about a month ago.

In the previous clash "Bermudez" Billy outboxed Colima during the entire four rounds, the Mexican running away most of the fight. Fans have got it doped that the Whittier lad will come back tonight, however, and hand the visitor a trimming.

Bowling Ruler

CHARLES C. RYAN

KENOSHA, Wis., May 13.—Charles C. Ryan, modest local dentist, and genuine booster of the ten-pin game, is basking in the sport calcium throughout the country as the result of his recent election to the presidency of the American Bowling Congress.

Ryan succeeds Elmer C. Dyer, Toledo, who served the national body the past year. The new bowling ruler has long been affiliated with the sport and is widely known in Wisconsin. He's a great booster for bowling.

Trojans Wallop Japanese Team By 11-2 Score

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—The Meiji University of Japan baseball team came a long way to take a severe drubbing at the hands of the University of Southern California nine by a score of 11 to 2 at the Coliseum here yesterday.

Pay ("Scow") Thomas of the Trojans was the hero of the game. After pitching a one-hit game to the Orientals he proved a slinger of no mean ability with four hits in as many trips to the plate. Two of his socks were good for three bases each and only the fact that Thomas was a pitcher kept them from being homers.

Nearly half the Japanese colony of Los Angeles witnessed the game.

Yesterday's Heroes—Two homers by Flack and Bottomley over Dean in the fourth inning gave the Cards their straight victory over the Giants, 5 to 3, and pulled the champions out of first place.

Four hits in the second inning gave the Cubs three runs but Vance bore down the rest of the way and the Robins won, 7 to 3.

By taking all four points in their match at the Broadway academy last night from the Robertson Electric company, the Appleby Motors company bowlers squeezed back into second place in the Business Men's league just one notch below the pace-setting American National bankers.

On the other hand the Schroeder Pharmacy quintette which wormed its way into second position last week and into a commanding position for a whirl into the top post took a 3 to 1 drubbing from the Santa Ana Commercial company and virtually lost its golden opportunity to gather in the championship rice cakes.

The Commercial, thanks to some splendid bowling by Torrence and Walker, captured the second and third games and team total from the drug store five by a considerable margin.

Tonight's schedule follows: Santa Ana K. C. vs. Santa Ana Iron works; Southern Counties Gas company vs. First National bank.

THESE TWO HARD TO HIT

LEFT, WALTER JOHNSON. RIGHT, TOMMY GIBBONS

Any batter in the American League will tell you it is tough to hit Walter Johnson, the fire-ball king of pitchers. Any pitcher—not excepting Mr. Dempsey himself—will tell you it is no cinch to hit Tommy Gibbons, best defensive fighter in the ring. This picture was taken the other day at the Washington park when the fighter went down to the dugout to greet the noted pitcher.

The Nut Cracker
by Joe Williams

Suzanne Lenglen will take the oath for the French Olympic athletes, but the boys will have to take the wallpings themselves.

We only have to wait six more months until the Yankees and the Giants get together and settle this master mind business again.

Johnny Dundee says he will not retire undefeated and there are many of active young gent in the game willing to see that he is not disappointed.

"Meeting Dempsey is the one big chance I have been waiting for," says Harry Willis. . . . Now you can understand the peculiar psychology of the man who laughs on the way to the death chair.

PADDOCK BUSTED A LIGAMENT THE OTHER DAY. THAT BABY'S NEVER SATISFIED UNLESS HE'S BUSTING SOMETHING.

"Don't get blisters on your haffers," warns Chick Evans, the gambler. And keep 'em off your vocabulary, too.

Carnegie Tech is all worked up because the baseball team used a ringer. . . . What's the matter, wasn't he any good?

Babe Ruth objects to being purposely passed, so the next time you see him on the street go right up and introduce yourself.

NOTWITHSTANDING his numerous retirements during the past week, the suspicion exists that there is nothing retiring about Mr. Vincent Richards.

Perhaps one reason why fight managers never go in for the silent drama themselves is that they are never silent.

SOCIETY NOTE: Mr. Connie Mack and his Athletics have returned to the collar, where they will be at home to their friends, if any, the rest of the season.

ANAHEIM ACADEMY WINS ANAHEIM, May 13.—St. Catherine's school of Anaheim won the honors in the annual field day tournament which was held Sunday at the Seelig Zoo park in Los Angeles by the Parochial school cadets. PLACE TICKETS FOR TRYOUTS ON SALE

Large Delegation of S. A. Fans Expected to See Big Meet May 24

Endeavoring quickly to meet Orange county's $1500 part of the $50,000 Southern California quota to help finance the sending of the American Olympic Games team to Paris, France, this summer, tickets for the big tryout meet to be held May 24 in the Los Angeles Coliseum were placed on sale here and at Fullerton, Orange and Anaheim today.

Mrs. H. S. Cochran of the Biltmore apartments, Anaheim, who has been placed in charge of the campaign in Orange county, was a Santa Ana visitor yesterday and left reserved seat tickets at the Elks hall, White Cross Drug store, Kelley Drug store and the Santa Ana Drug store. Tickets also are on sale at the Victor Walker sporting goods store.

No donations are sought. "Pack the Coliseum May 24" is the committee's watchword. The big meet on that afternoon will decide what Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico athletes will go to Harvard to compete in the finals for the American team.

Johnny Spangler, Santa Ana quarter-miler now attending Occidental college Glenn Hartranft of Fullerton and Stanford; Bill Kerr of Huntington Beach and Stanford, and Ross Nichols of Huntington Beach are among the Orange county athletes who stand a splendid chance of making the trip abroad with the American delegation.

With such world famous athletes as Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, and Charley Paddock, sprint king, appearing at the Los Angeles meet, it is expected a record breaking throng from Santa Ana will attend.

Will Ask Support. Civic and fraternal organizations here will be asked to do their share toward sending the Southern California athletes to Paris and a campaign also will be conducted at the Santa Ana high school, it is understood.

Tickets for the tryouts sell at $1, $2 and $3, plus tax. To transport America's athletes and coaches to France and maintain them in a manner worthy of their position as representatives of the United States it is estimated $350,000 will be needed. At the 1920 Olympiad at Antwerp the American athletes were handicapped by lack of proper plans and care and it is the aim of the national committee to see that such a condition does not again exist.

The United States government does not directly or indirectly furnish any part of the funds required.

SAN PAULO, Brazil—Benedicto Santos, negro heavyweight, who was knocked out Saturday night during a contest with Erminio Spalla, European champion, was reported to be dying in a hospital here today.

PHILADELPHIA—George Godfrey, Philadelphia heavyweight, knocked out Farmer Lodge in the third round. Lodge was on the floor four times before the count caught him in the last round.

CINCINNATI—Wamie Smith, Bartlesville, Okla., floored Alex Trembitas, Portland, Ore., twice in winning a ten round scrap here last night.

said to have entrusted to Mrs. Dicke the tiny crucifix with the prayer that it find its way sometime, somewhere into the hands of her son.

"Her wish is about to come true," Mrs. Dicke went on to say. "The intensely human drama which has gone on unseen in the hearts of those who knew the details of the case, a play which has as its characters real human beings is about to see the final curtain fall on the broad stage which extended over a continent and which drained the purse of the heroic mother."

She told her story simply: "I knew Mrs. Lieb at St. Paul. With her daughter, a Mrs. Graham, she lived at my mother's home with me. She told us that a woman, infatuated with her husband, desired to take the baby from her because Mr. Lieb refused to become interested in her."

"Never, through the long years, did she lose heart or give up the search. On her deathbed she gave me the cross with the request that I keep it for Freddie when he came again. During the years of the search she prayed nightly that God would look down upon him and take care of him wherever he might be, satisfied that sooner or later the Creator would return 'her baby' to his mother."

"Now, long after the silver trappings of the dead have faded, the boy returns. The mother's wish is fulfilled; her prayer is answered. If she were but alive her heart would overflow with thanksgiving."

In Joplin, Clark, who now declares himself to be the missing Freddie Lieb, said that he was on the trail of his abductors whom he believes are still alive, living in the east. He said that he had learned that the kidnapping had been carried out at the direction of the wealthy woman who had coveted his father's affections.

"She and several other persons with full knowledge of the crime are still alive and I intend that they be brought to justice," he declared, according to despatches. Clark, or Lieb, as he prefers to be known, added that he was brought up in Norristown, Pa., ignorant of his true identity.

In the opinion of Mrs. Dicke the woman abductor, tortured by the thought of going into eternity with the secret of the boy's identity locked in her breast, had told friends and that the information had trickled back to the boy, now a grown man with a wife and family of his own.

Howard Lake, Minn.—"I write to let you know that I have taken several bottles of your medicine in the last three months, and found it to be very good. I had pains and other troubles women have and was not able to do my work. Seeing your 'Ad.' in the paper, I thought of giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I got good results from it and feel able to do my housework now. I used to have lots of pains, but after taking the medicine I am relieved from pains that I had suffered from for years. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends, and hope this letter will be satisfactory for you to publish."—Mrs. Jennie Jahr, R. R. No. 2, Box 81, Howard Lake, Minn.

TOT, 3, TO JOIN DADDY IN CHINA

nephew of his Uncle Sam.

Visits Monastery
Needless to say, Donald and his mother are looking forward with much eagerness to rejoining "Daddy" in China. Loren Mead is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Mead of this city, and Mrs. Mead is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Plavan of Greenville.

In a letter which Mead recently wrote to Mrs. Mead here regarding a visit he paid to Chu Hua Shan, a Buddhist monastery, he said, in part:

"One is never allowed to forget that the monks must have money to live and keep up their temples and the money boxes are so placed that they cannot escape the attention of the worshippers. Also in each of the temples is a large slate slab on which is carved the name as well as the amount of money given by each individual giving money of any large amount. Some covered gifts of from $30 up to $700, and we understand that some of the wealthy Shanghai and Ningpo followers of Buddha give several thousands of dollars on each trip here."

"The noise from the gongs, bells and different contrivances for making noise in this small valley is deafening and never ceases from one day until the other except for about three months in the summer when most of the people are busy on their farms and we understand the number of worshippers is small. Also the odor from the burning joss sticks and fires is one that can never be forgotten."

"Having visited the main points and paid ten dollars for our room with dinner and breakfast which was not at all bad for three of us we returned to the Yangtze by the main road."

"Here we ran into beggars by the thousands and such a class of people we have never seen. There were thousands of them along the way. First was the professional beggar, an able-bodied man, stopping all the people on their way to the temple and demanding (not asking) certain number of cash per person. We stopped to listen to a number of arguments between the worshippers and the beggars and not in one case did the worshipper come out ahead. And should any of them have lost their temper and made an attempt to strike the beggar the result is certain."

"In addition to these there are those beggars suffering from some deformity of limb or limbs, others having one or more of their limbs eaten away by one of the diseases so common here among this class of people, old women, nursing mothers and one woman who to this day we cannot say for sure if she was alive or not. If she was she was so deadened to everything around and in such a state of decay that we venture to say she will not live but a few days longer."

"Leaving Chu Hua Shan by this main road one first descended 2,874 steps virtually in one continuous flight except for a few rests where temples are located. In addition to these are the gradual slopes and other small flights of steps which we did not count."

"Temples were passed all along the way and we noted that at each one the money box was the most conspicuous thing and a priest was at one side to watch aration, said to contain alfalfa, peapods, onions and garlic, that he depended for sustenance and rejuvenation in his numerous military campaigns, could not be ascertained.

"I have never in my life smelled anything quite like that," chorled Mrs. Anderson, her face red with laughter. With a wave of her hand she motioned to Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley to remove the "elixir."

Women Seek Money
Did the Mexican generals, high in the councils of General Carranza, depend upon this vegetable portion for their military success? Was the overthrow of the Diaz government directly attributable to the life-giving salve of Rex Herrick William Albrextondare?

Did Sir Jan Smuts depend for his inspiration upon the aroma of onions, garlic, peapods and alfalfa as given off by the Albrextondare elixir?

Did Russian peasants go about with guns on their shoulders and jars in their hands, presenting arms and sniffing of the mystic life-giving hope-inspiring vegetable preparation? What a boon to the proletariat!

As Albrextondare was in jail followers of his case sought the answers to these questions.

In the meantime they wonder who will get the $50,000, involved in civil suits filed against him by Mrs. Ruth Shaw and Mrs. James McFadden and her daughter, Miss Jennie, all former Santa Ana women.

He asserted that Laguna Beach now boasts 1008 homes and that each year it nearly doubles its population. The postal receipts in February, 1924, he said, were more than in June, 1923.

"We have made arrangements for the Automobile Club of Southern California to change the signs from 'Laguna' to 'Laguna Beach' and we don't want the headline writers to refer to us as 'Laguna,' he concluded.

CONVICT NATTY EX-OFFICER IN CHECK CASE

Found guilty by a jury that deliberated five minutes in reaching its verdict, Pat Sarsfield, charged with issuing a no-fund check, today was awaiting sentence. Superior Judge Z. B. West was scheduled to pronounce judgment Friday at 9:30 a. m.

The trial of the dapper ex-army officer was completed late yesterday, the defense having offered no testimony to combat the prosecution charges that Sarsfield issued a bogus check for $20 to Lantz Brothers, local garage firm.

R. W. Lantz, member of the firm, was the principal witness for the state, he testifying that the check was drawn upon a Long Beach bank. Other testimony revealed that Sarsfield had deposited a sum in the bank shortly before the check was drawn, but had established no credit there, as the check he deposited was shown to be worthless, it was claimed.

Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley conducted the prosecution, the defense being represented by Attorneys L. W. Blodgett, Huntington Beach, and Morris Cain, Santa Ana.

In the Sarsfield case the present superior court jury followed its recently established habit of reaching quick decisions. The last several criminal cases were each decided in less time than the five minutes devoted to yesterday's deliberations.

There was recently unearthed in the San Antonio Canyon in California a box containing 261 quart bottles of whisky, wine and brandy, supposed to have been buried by a prospector in the days of '49.

that all passersby left their contribution.

"We passed hundreds of people on their way to worship and from observations at the main temple we made estimates obtained at the mountain think that probably 200,000 people worship here every year."

"The trip to the mountain by the main road would be as beautiful as the trip from the back of it as we made it except for the beggars and filth of their surroundings. The trip from the back side across the mountain and then down onto the monastery is a most beautiful one and we would venture to say would compare with any trip in this part of the country."

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUBY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Fumfallow, Nigel's sister, and Dolly marries an old sweetheart, Robert Durham.

Dolly and Robert sail for America and word comes of the sinking of their ship. When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David mistakes Mary for his brother's wife and asks her to come to live at Red Grange with him and his aunt.

Mary is given a hearty welcome to her new home. Dora Fisher intends to marry David. She calls at Red Grange and asks to meet Nigel's wife.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Miss Varney did not answer. She remembered well enough the many times Nigel had designated Dora as a "dressed-up doll," and even gone so far as to mimic her airs and graces. She poured the tea silently.

They had finished before Mary and David returned. They came into the room together, laughing and talking as if they had known one another all their lives.

David carried a rug and Mary's coat over his arm; his rather pale face was flushed with the fresh, damp air. Dora had never seen him look so young and animated.

He stood quite still when he saw her, and the smile faded from his lips. But the next moment he had recovered himself, and came forward with outstretched hand.

"This is an unexpected pleasure," his eyes searched the room rather anxiously. "Is—Miss Varney with you?"

Dora laughed. "No; and he doesn't know I am here, either." She explained the situation to him as she had done to Miss Varney; he accepted it gravely.

"You've had your journey in vain, then?"

Her eyes shot him an appeal. "Not in vain, David, if I see you all. How unkind!"

She tried to laugh. Miss Varney introduced Mary. "Miss Fisher—Mrs. Bretherton, Nigel's wife."

Mary held out her hand. She looked a little pale and troubled. For one terrified moment she, too, had wondered if Mary were here, too. If so—oh, what would have happened?

"I am so pleased to meet you," said Dora effusively. She bent and kissed the girl's grave face. "I do hope we shall be friends. Nigel and I were great chums."

She was no longer jealous of Mary. In her heart, she had already summed up her own smartly cut clothes and pink and white beauty.

"Mary drove all the way without my valuable assistance this afternoon," he said to Miss Varney. He looked at Mary with a sort of proprietary smile in his eyes. "She won't want any more lessons now."

"Do you like motoring?" Dora asked.

"I never had any before I came here," said Mary shyly. "I never went in a private car."

Dora looked surprised. "I thought Nigel had one. I am sure I have heard my brother say that he did."

Mary had remembered, too late. She caught her breath hard; her eyes went to David with a sort of agonized pleading. He came to her rescue quietly.

"Mary doesn't call that old knock-about a 'car,' I expect," he said. "Nigel bought it second-hand, and it was only a two-seater; I believe he had nothing but trouble with it."

He changed the conversation by asking if there was any tea left. "We must have some fresh," said Miss Varney; she was very particular over the way her tea was brewed. She gave the maid most careful instructions when she came to answer the bell.

"Are you going back to London tonight?" David asked; he had taken a chair beside Dora.

She laughed. "Why, of course I am! I didn't mean to stay five minutes, only I couldn't resist the tea, and Miss Varney said you would be in soon. Why didn't you come to see us last night, David?"

Her voice was reproachful. Mary moved away and stood looking out of the window into the darkening garden.

It was surprising how acutely sensitive she was to every word that passed between David and Dora; though she tried not to listen, she heard everything they said.

She had never seen Dora Fisher before, but she had heard Nigel's wife speak of her many times.

Dolly had inelegantly called her a "dressed-up doll"; she had made fun of the way she did her hair and the clothes she wore, though she would dearly have liked to have worn the same things herself.

In her heart she had known Dora to be both smartly and expensively dressed; it was through her jealousy that Nigel had been obliged to break off all friendly associations with the Fishers. Mary was recalling all this vaguely as she stood at the window, and heard Dora's rather affected voice, and David's deep tones.

She knew she was not going to like Dora; she knew that she resented this visit—that she resented the fact that Fisher's sister called David by his Christian name. It was an absurd resentment but none the less real.

The past few weeks at the Red Grange had spoilt her; she had been made much of for the first time in her life. She felt out in the cold and unwanted as she stood there alone in the window, and heard those two friendly, intimate voices at her back. It was Miss Varney who called to her to come and have tea. David rose perfunctorily and drew forward a chair for her; she took it without looking at him.

She was angry and ashamed because she resented Dora's presence. After all, David had a right to his friends; it was nothing to do with her who came to the house.

She exerted herself to try to join the conversation, but it was a poor success, and presently she sat silent in the firelit room listening to the others.

Dora was very beautiful; it was no wonder David seemed so attentive to her, she told herself a little bitterly. She did not think she had ever seen a more beautiful woman.

It seemed an endless time before Dora rose to go.

"I looked up a train when I was at the station," she said in answer to Miss Varney's inquiries. "There is a fast one at six-fifteen. May be a fast one at six-fifteen. May be a fast one at six-fifteen."

"I will drive you down in the car," said David at once. He rose and went into the hall. "That is, if you are sure you cannot stay to dinner," he added as he returned with his big driving coat.

"I should love to, but I mustn't," Dora answered. Monty will be wondering where I am; as it is, he will have to have his dinner alone tonight, and he hates that."

"He is a lucky man to have such a devoted sister," said Miss Varney kindly. "Oh, I have heard him say how good you are to him," she insisted, as Dora began to protest.

Mary was forgotten. She sat in the deep chair in the firelit, silent and a little sad. Miss Varney had followed David and Dora into the hall; she heard David order the car; then their steps and voices died away in the distance.

Mary sat staring into the fire; after all, it was she who was the intruder here, and not Dora—she who had no right there! She who was nothing to either David or Miss Varney.

She heard the sound of returning steps, and rose to her feet. David came into the room. She heard him feel along the wall for the switch with which to turn on the light; then he spoke her name.

"Mary! Are you there, Mary?" She answered at once.

"Yes—do you want me?" He changed his mind about the light, and left the room in darkness.

"I wondered where you were. Is anything the matter? Are you tired?"

She could just see his face by the red glow of the fire; his eyes seemed to be looking right down into her heart.

"Is anything the matter?" he asked again.

There was a little silence, then Mary spoke, and the words seemed forced from her against all reasoning, against her will.

"Oh, I don't want you to go down to the station with Miss Fisher," she said childishly.

She was terrified as soon as she had spoken; a wave of scarlet seemed to envelop her whole body. She was painfully conscious of the sudden tension of David's tall figure. She tried desperately to laugh, but the sound died away in her throat; she just stood there—trembling.

CHAPTER XXXII
"I Didn't Mean It!"

"You don't want me to go to the station with Miss Fisher?"

David Bretherton echoed the words slowly, as if, as yet, they conveyed nothing to him. Then suddenly the hot color flamed into his face; he half held out his hand, but drew it back irresolutely.

Mary had recovered herself by this time she was trying to laugh, but it was very unsuccessful.

"I didn't mean that, of course. How silly! I don't know what made me say it! Of course you must go to the station with her; please forget that I ever said anything so foolish."

She tried to move past him to the door, but Bretherton barred her way.

"You did mean it," he said; there was quiet determination in his voice. "You are not in the least the sort of woman to say a thing unless you had some very good reason for it; especially a thing like that. Don't you like Miss Fisher? Why don't you want me to go with her?"

Mary was covered with confusion; her eyes were distressed. "Indeed, I meant nothing," she declared. "Please forget all about it; look, the car is at the door."

$7000 Lease of Land Row Ends In Settlement

The difference of J. G. Norton and J. G. Quick over a $7000 lease secured by Quick upon 200 acres of Imperial valley land owned by Norton were "ironed out" today following a settlement in Superior Judge F. C. Drumm's court here late yesterday.

Quick had leased the land for two years at $3500 a year rental. He abandoned the premises after one year and refused to pay the $3500 for the second year. In his answer to Norton's suit for the $3500 he alleged that his notice of abandonment had been accepted by Norton who had lost nothing by it, because, according to Quick, Norton had raised crops on the land and made more than $3500 profit from them.

In court late yesterday Norton and Quick reached a compromise under which Quick agreed to pay half of Norton's claim, or $1750.

THROUGH ROAD TO ANAHEIM SOUGHT

ANAHEIM, May 13.—Declaring that immediate action was necessary to save the plant of the Crystal Chemical Company for Anaheim, a committee of chamber of commerce officials today were prepared to rush through plans for extending the city limits to the north, to include the individual district and factory sites planned, following unofficial approval of the city council.

The territory will include 100 acres and everyone owning property within that district has already given assurance of a favorable vote on the question of annexation.

Following a conference with the county health officer at Santa Ana on the sewage disposal of the Crystal Chemical plant, and the proper riddance of waste materials, it was decided that the present method could not be continued as the decomposition of vegetable matter in the sumps is highly obnoxious. Unless the district is annexed to the city of Anaheim the factory district cannot have access to the joint outfall sewer line.

Besides a splendid speaker, there will be a fine dinner and a good entertainment.

This is to be a get-acquainted meeting and reception for the nearly one hundred new members who have recently been taken into the chamber. Harold Taylor who has been working at Big Bear Lake for the past few weeks, is home for a few days this week, but will return to the operating table and the surgeons' knife, but there was no fear among them—only the confidence that soon they would be able to run and play, and stand erect "like other children," for to be like other children is the constant prayer of the crippled child.

The St. Louis institution is the fifth of the chain of Shriners hospitals for crippled children to be opened, and already it has a waiting list of over 100 more than its 80 beds can hold. Others have been operating for more than a year at San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Minneapolis, St. Paul and Shreveport, La. Hospitals are under way at Springfield, Mass., and Montreal, while the site has been purchased for a hospital in Chicago and still others are contemplated.

These hospitals are open to all crippled children whose cases are subject to cure or marked improvement, without restriction as to race or creed, and without the payment of one cent for surgical treatment or other expense. More than 400 children have been received at these Shrine institutions, restored to normal condition or greatly improved, and sent back to their homes, ready to face the world on an even footing with their more fortunate fellows.

Government figures show there are more than 460,000 crippled children in the United States, and the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine purpose building more hospitals until they can cope with the situation. There are more than 500,000 Shriners in North America, and each pays an assessment of $2 a year to build and maintain these institutions.

THOUSANDS IN RUSH TO NEW GEM FIELD

JOHANNESBURG, May 13.—Scenes and stories reminiscent of the first diamond rushes are reported from Stompies, where a large diamond field was recently discovered.

Ten thousand diggers have already arrived, it is stated, while hundreds more, including many blacks, are streaming in from all sides daily.

The nearest town is 20 miles away and everybody is living on the bareveld. Whole families are said to be stowed away in miscellaneous vehicles, with sacking for roofing.

Enteric trouble is said to be rife, the food conditions being deplorable, even water having to be bought from vendors.

A farmer arrived at the diggings to try his luck, but could only get a piece of waste ground no one else would have. After setting to work on the lot he discovered several stones, eventually sold his claim for more than $40,000 and went home.

Another prospector almost went mad with joy when he sold his diamonds for $45,000.

CRIPPLED KIDDIES AIDED BY SHRINERS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 13.—Into "The Temple of Babies' Smiles" there came this week a score of children, some of them borne in their mothers' arms, some hobbling on crutches or dragging their wasted forms on warped pieces of crooked cane.

The operating table and the surgeons' knife, but there was no fear among them—only the confidence that soon they would be able to run and play, and stand erect "like other children," for to be like other children is the constant prayer of the crippled child.

The St. Louis institution is the fifth of the chain of Shriners hospitals for crippled children to be opened, and already it has a waiting list of over 100 more than its 80 beds can hold. Others have been operating for more than a year at San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Minneapolis, St. Paul and Shreveport, La. Hospitals are under way at Springfield, Mass., and Montreal, while the site has been purchased for a hospital in Chicago and still others are contemplated.

These hospitals are open to all crippled children whose cases are subject to cure or marked improvement, without restriction as to race or creed, and without the payment of one cent for surgical treatment or other expense. More than 400 children have been received at these Shrine institutions, restored to normal condition or greatly improved, and sent back to their homes, ready to face the world on an even footing with their more fortunate fellows.

Government figures show there are more than 460,000 crippled children in the United States, and the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine purpose building more hospitals until they can cope with the situation. There are more than 500,000 Shriners in North America, and each pays an assessment of $2 a year to build and maintain these institutions.

ANAHEIM, May 13.—Reports from the Milroy test well, located on the Sidnam lease west of Anaheim, received today were to the effect that a depth of 3300 feet had been reached and that drilling had been temporarily suspended due to pipe trouble.

It was declared that there had been some gas showings and that the reports were more encouraging than those received from the Wagner Standard test well being drilled east of the city. The latter well has been drilled to a depth exceeding 5000 feet, and there have been no showings of importance, it was stated.

1. O. O. F. DELEGATES LEAVE ANAHEIM, May 13.—Three delegates appointed to represent this city at the annual grand session of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows which opened today at Pasadena, left here this morning to attend. Husband Will Have To Drink Water Wife Tells Judge

ANAHEIM, May 13.—"If he wants to drink any more, he will have to drink water," said this manner, Mrs. G. Albiero of Anaheim yesterday assured Judge J. F. Albion that her erring spouse would walk the straight and narrow. This statement was made to the judge after the wife had returned to court with $300 which she secured from friends in order to have her husband released from jail.

"Three hundred days or $300," had been the sentence from the judge when Albiero appeared in court after police had raided his store and found in his grocery stock six pints of liquor of which he did not deny ownership.

All residents and property owners in the tract have expressed themselves as favorable to the proposition and it is believed that the project will receive a heavy vote in favor of annexation. The proceedings are being rushed as rapidly as possible in order that the Chrysal Chemical company plant may remain in the city. It is pointed out that unless the plant can receive the service of the outfall sewer, the officials may be forced to move it to another city where ample sewer facilities be obtained. The plant is now outside the city limits and included in the 100 acres which it is proposed to incorporate in the city. After this acreage has been annexed the sewer lines can be extended to the plant and will provide means of disposal for the quantities of waste products from the plant.

City Trustees Direct Circulation of Petitions In North Section

ANAHEIM, May 13.—Petitions for the annexation of 100 acres of land to the city of Anaheim, were being circulated today following a survey of property which is located north of the present city limits, by the members of the city council under the direction of George W. Reid, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

All residents and property owners in the tract have expressed themselves as favorable to the proposition and it is believed that the project will receive a heavy vote in favor of annexation. The proceedings are being rushed as rapidly as possible in order that the Chrysal Chemical company plant may remain in the city. It is pointed out that unless the plant can receive the service of the outfall sewer, the officials may be forced to move it to another city where ample sewer facilities be obtained. A PUZZLE A DAY

A small zoo contained a number of birds and animals. The owner proudly stated that the entire group contained 36 heads and 100 feet. How many birds, and how many animals were there?

Yesterday's answer:
2 plus 2, divided by 2, equals 2.
2 minus 2, divided by 2, equals 1.
2 divided by 2, plus 2, equals 4.
The figures 2 appears three times in each of the above groups. But the first group totals twice the second; and the second, twice the third.

TO MAIL FORMS TO TAXPAYERS FOR REFUNDS

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—The official procedure for filing amended income tax returns and claims for refund under the recent treasury decision relating to community property in California, was received today by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodell.

More than 100,000 claims will be filed in Southern California on account of overpayment of taxes during the last five years. Filing of these claims has been withheld pending the receipt of the official procedure. Approximately $30,000,000 will be refunded to Southern California taxpayers.

"A new Form 1040CP has been prescribed and is now being printed," said Collector Goodell. "This form will consist of three pages, containing an abstract of an income tax return and two blank returns which may be executed by the husband and wife. The abstract of the income tax return will be filled in by the bureau of internal revenue at Washington and mailed to the taxpayers, together with a copy of Form 943CP to be used in filing claim for abatement, claim for credit, or claim for refund.

"The distribution of these forms will be controlled directly from Washington, and taxpayers are urged not to file additional returns as it will complicate the work. The foregoing procedure will be followed with respect to the years 1919 to 1922 inclusive. Inasmuch as the 1923 returns have not all been filed, returns with respect to such years will be taken by the bureau at this time. If the taxpayer has filed a waiver for the year 1917 claim for refund should be filed on Form 943CP for the year 1917 without waiting for further advice from the bureau. Claims for refund and waivers with respect to returns filed for 1918 is a matter which is now being given further consideration. Additional instructions with regard to 1918 claims will be issued as soon as possible."

"The above procedure has been adopted as it is the desire of the secretary of the treasury and the commissioner of internal revenue to have all of these cases adjusted with the least possible annoyance to the taxpayer and with as little delay as possible," continued the collector.

"The revenue bureau is also endeavoring by adopting the new form and showing the amount of income originally reported by the taxpayer to so simplify the procedure that it will be necessary for taxpayers to employ any assistance in the filing of claims. If the taxpayer follows the instructions on the form and those contained in the letter forwarding forms and claims, it will be very simple to prepare. In this way thousands of dollars will be saved by taxpayers."

"As soon as the procedure for 1918 and 1923 has been adopted, taxpayers will be immediately advised. It should be appreciated that approximately thousands of taxpayers in California are affected, and that a large amount of work will be required to forward the new forms, the collector said in suggesting that taxpayers wait patiently until the receipt of the forms, as by using them the matter of receiving their credit will be expedited."

"A special unit is being established by the bureau of internal revenue to expedite the refunding of taxes on all claims based on the recent community property decision."

Hint Mystery as Baby Body Found

A mystery surrounding the finding yesterday of a newly-born baby girl at the screening plant of the city's sewer system today was still confronting the authorities here.

The infant was discovered in the screen of the plant on the Talbert road, a half mile south of the Santa Ana river bridge, by O. A. Smith, day operator there.

The small body probably was dropped into a manhole opening into one of the larger sewer lines of the city, authorities believed.

Coroner C. D. Brown stated that doubtless the babe was born dead and that probably no inquest would be held.

VIENNA, May 13.—The circumstances of a 16-year-old girl's suicide in a Vienna prison cell, when another girl, who was her cellmate, acted as "executioner," startled local officials recently.

Anna Jug, 16, daughter of a Vienna worker, was arrested on a count of immoral conduct and confined, with three other girls, aged 15, 16 and 15, arrested for the same reason.

On the morning of her third day of confinement, Anna told her companions she had decided to end her life by hanging herself. When she asked to be assisted in doing it two of the girls refused their help, while the youngest, at once, gave her consent. It was agreed the hanging should be done at night to spare the "spectators" the full details of the gruesome proceedings.

At midnight the "assistant" started working. A bench was put on the table, a bedclothe torn and made into a string, which the youthful executioner fastened to a beam in the ceiling. The suicide climbed on the bench, her head was put into the sling by the other girl, who then pushed her off the bench. Death was instantaneous, it was believed.

After a few minutes' waiting the "assistant" called in the jailer and notified him of the "suicide." A doctor was summoned, who, after careful investigation, stated the girl had been regularly executed. The girl "executioner" confessed she had assisted the suicide and gave all the details of the story, which were confirmed by the two other girls.

TUSTIN SINGERS TO MEET TONIGHT

TUSTIN, May 13.—Members of the Tustin Male Chorus formed here last week will hold their second meeting at the high school between the hours of 7 and 8 p. m. this evening it was announced today.

Fourteen men of this city and Santa Ana met at the organization meeting of the singing club here last Tuesday night. S. W. Stanley fostered the plan. According to Stanley, when the chorus becomes efficient in its work they will specialize in concerts and radio programs.

Miss Madge Stephens, musical instructor at the local high school, has taken charge of the chorus and will direct during the coming weeks. Stanley announced that every man who likes to sing and take part in a chorus, should join the chorus. Several Santa Ana men have taken advantage of the offer already, including Charles Thompson, F. S. Bishop, and Harold Bishop. It is also the plan for the chorus to lead in all community singing at entertainments at the high school and elsewhere.

Stanley declared that he expected the chorus to number at least twenty-five members when it becomes better organized.

Among those present at the last practice were S. E. Tingley, Hollis Lindsey, Oliver Marriott, J. C. Garlock, Thomas Wilson, J. E. Melvin, Hugh Rannels, Charles Crafts, Grover Fritz, Samuel W. Stanley, and J. W. Means of this city and P. S. Bishop, Harold Bishop and Charles Thompson of Santa Ana.

Stanley was elected as secretary of the club and Hugh Rannels was elected librarian to care for the music.

A FINE MUNICIPAL BAND

Musically, Santa Ana's municipal band is one of the finest in Southern California. This was demonstrated in the contest of bands held in Los Angeles Sunday of this week. The Santa Ana band, led by D. C. Cianfoni, took second place in the contest in its class, and but for a technical point involving uniforms would have had first place. Its score for musical achievement in its class was the highest scored during that contest.

And this is the band that is to give a concert tonight at the high school auditorium.

There are many reasons why the auditorium should be packed tonight. The most important reason is that the band deserves the support of the entire citizenship of the city. The members of the organization have devoted time and money to the work. Their devotion to the project, night after night of practice, and a deep appreciation of the value of a good band to the city have been utilized under the wonderful leadership of Director Cianfoni.

Everybody loves good band music, and that is reason enough for attending the concert tonight. The music will be good. Of that there is no doubt. The excellence of the productions of this organization has been thoroughly demonstrated no later than during the contest in Los Angeles.

UNCLE SAM'S MOVIES

The experienced movie fan is accustomed to the idea of film stars going to all corners of the world to make their pictures. He doesn't know, however, how far Uncle Sam's camera men travel to make an interesting educational film.

Take a recent thriller called "Hoppers." It is a picture made by the Department of Agriculture for the purpose of teaching grasshopper control. It depicts various methods of fighting grasshoppers, such as the hopper catcher, the balloon, large flocks of hopper-gobbling turkeys, use of poisoned bait and even the thorough plowing and harrowing that destroys hopper eggs.

All rather humdrum stuff for anyone but the farmer, some one says. Not so at all. The picture includes a community gathering with pleasant social aspects as well as the business one of getting together in a neighborhood campaign against the hopper. And it goes farther than that. There are interesting scenes taken on "grasshopper glacier" in Montana, where prehistoric hoppers are found frozen in the ice. There are scenes taken in Africa showing great flights of grasshoppers in that region and reminiscent of the Plague of Locusts of Old Testament times. So far have representatives of the Bureau of Entomology traveled in their efforts to make the grasshopper picture interesting as well as instructive.

Marion Star—The case of Governor Pinchot goes to show how even the public may be fooled for a time by a man who takes himself too seriously.

ANOTHER JAPANESE ALLIANCE

Now there is talk of an alliance between Japan and France. Such an alliance is sought by France for additional safeguard in case that country were threatened by a German-Russian combination. The enemy then could be attacked at both ends. Incidentally the proposed alliance would probably be another back-handed slap at Great Britain by France, and indirect notice to the United States that France has to be reckoned with in the Pacific.

It is a natural effort on the part of France, but it is discouraging to many countries and to many people of every country who are more interested in building up international tolerance and good will than in building military alliances. Every coalition of that kind invites another coalition against it, spoils the existing balance among nations and inspires fear, uncertainty and bad feeling.

The practical results may not amount to much as far as the Pacific is concerned, because France has but a slight hold and small interests there. The advantages sought are largely sentimental and political. But even that may be mischievous. As for Japan, the benefit of cancelling her alliance with Great Britain, at the Washington arms conference, is half lost if she merely swings over to France.

There ought to be some way of stopping all that sort of thing, in favor of general square dealing among nations.

Boston Transcript—Liberty bonds are above par. Another indication of the enduring strength of American institutions.

THE SIZE OF THE NAVY

The public remains strangely passive in the face of demands for naval increases. When the Secretary of the Navy, supported by a reputed naval expert, declares that the navy is now considerably below its quota under the 5-5-3 arrangement made at the Washington arms conference, the public seems to regard the statement as something to be expected of such personages, and lets it go at that.

Naval secretaries and experts are always demanding larger navies. The public, weary of war and everything connected with war, especially taxes, refuses to get excited about the matter. It seems to feel that this country is safe enough for the present and immediate future, that no other power is going to attack us, and that any warships built now would probably be obsolete anyway before they were ever needed for practical use.

This attitude may be a dangerous one. It may be unwise. Nevertheless it exists and is a force to be reckoned with.

Philadelphia North American—Money influence, says Mr. McAdoo, is a menace to United States citizens. It certainly hurt William G.'s chances.

SENATORIAL RADIO NEXT

The United States Senate is thinking of installing a radio-broadcasting outfit for the benefit of the nation. It recently adopted a resolution directing radio experts of the army and navy to ascertain the nature and cost of equipment necessary for broadcasting senatorial debates. Santa Ana may yet be listening to senatorial oratory.

It is an excellent idea. Radio fans always relish additional variety in their entertainment programs, and a large part of the public would be really interested in listening directly to senatorial proceedings. It would stimulate public interest in what is going on in Washington. It would make citizens better informed and therefore better able to play their part in the complicated business of government.

It should be good for the Senate, too. Senators would probably take more pains to expedite business and avoid trivialities if they knew that the whole country was "listening in." They would take more pains with their addresses. With every senator broadcasting from the Capitol to the nation at large, the Senate might regain some of its old fame as a great deliberative body.

Portland Oregonian—Governor Al Smith ran well in Wisconsin. He would. So does a spigot.

Our Interest In Canal

J. C. Allison, Los Angeles engineer who testified before the house irrigation committee in Washington Thursday, may be an eminent man in his profession but the fact that he was sponsored by Harry Chandler in his appearance before the committee casts a serious cloud of doubt over the value of his testimony. He says the All American canal is not feasible and in that statement simply echoes what Mr. Chandler said the day before.

It is very easy to understand why Mr. Chandler is opposed to the All American canal. Most of his vast holdings in the Imperial valley section lie south of the Mexican line; and those lands are irrigated under a contract with the Mexican government that is highly advantageous to Mr. Chandler. The intake for the Imperial irrigation system is in Mexico, not in the United States, and the American property holders are at the mercy of Mexico because of this fact. They have been forced to make terms which are very favorable to holders of lands in Mexico—and Mr. Chandler has the biggest acreage in all that section.

If the American canal were built, the water for the Imperial valley, in California, would not cross the Mexican border before delivery to the ranchers of Imperial county. They would have first rights instead of second and they would be in position to dictate to Mr. Chandler and other owners of Mexican lands and force them to bear a proper share of the expenses of the irrigation system, in case they turned over any water to them. Or if they did not, the Mexican land owners in Mexico would have to make their own arrangements to get water from the river.

This review of the situation makes Mr. Chandler's interest in the problem very clear. The engineers of the reclamation service have reported that the All American canal is entirely feasible and highly desirable. And they certainly are more disinterested than an engineer put forward by Harry Chandler.

Riverside county is tremendously interested not only in the Boulder Dam as a means of flood protection for the Palo Verde and Coachella valleys but in the All American canal, because that canal would cross the Chuckawalla mesa and circle the Coachella valley, thus making possible the irrigation of great tracts of fertile land in this county that is splendidly adapted to dates, cotton, grapefruit, melons, early vegetables and other semi-tropic or out of season crops.

It would be unthinkable stupidity for the people of Riverside county to do anything else but back the Swing-Johnson bill to the limit for that provides both for the Boulder dam and the All American canal.

We Are All Republicans

Before the primary vote on Tuesday California was divided into Coolidge Republicans and Johnson Republicans; and the supporters of both candidates were earnest and active in the advocacy of the claims of their favorite. The decision of the voters of the party has been made in favor of Coolidge; and now we should close up our ranks and stand together—all Republicans.

President Coolidge will be nominated at Cleveland, very likely by acclamation, but then comes the campaign to elect him. And to win in that campaign is likely to require party harmony and hard work.

It is of course possible that the Democrats may make a big blunder in their nomination and that Coolidge will therefore win the election easily. We cannot, however, count on that. Indications now point to a hard campaign in which the success of the Republican nominee can be secured only by harmony and earnest effort.

California is normally a Republican state and it has interests that are best promoted and protected by Republican policies. However much therefore we may have disagreed before the primary we should, now stand together in a united effort to keep the state in the Republican column.

The Press pledges its efforts to that end and believes it voices the sentiment of the Johnson supporters in Riverside county in taking that stand.

That Body of Yours

HEART TROUBLE

Most physicians are friendly toward insurance companies because the idea of insurance is so sound—that if a number of people banding themselves together and paying according to their age and health into a general fund to be distributed at times of need.

But there is some unfairness just the same in some of the questions asked by insurance examiners regarding the heart. Is there any murmur? Is the heart regular? Has the applicant ever fainted? If the answer is in the affirmative, the applicant may not get his insurance, and may on account of the general system in vogue, be rejected by other companies as well.

Now, this is not right, and the war has shown the folly of rejecting a man whose heart was irregular or had a slight murmur. Also, that one could faint, and still not have heart disease. This matter of being rejected is not the only injustice done the applicant. The very thought that he has some form of heart disease is often the means of making him a neurotic. He begins to worry about it, becomes depressed in spirit, and will not take the slightest form of exercise for fear of injuring his "diseased heart," which might cause him to die suddenly.

The war has demonstrated that one can have true murmurs, irregularity and enlargement of the heart, without interfering with the ordinary life of the individual, or the actual duration of that life. You might well ask, "How am I to know just what my heart can stand?" Well, your heart is a muscle very similar to the other muscles in the body. A muscle has only one job in the body and that is to work or contract.

How is it doing its job? Despite the irregularity and the murmur is it doing its work? Can you do the ordinary amount of walking, climbing stairs, and so forth without getting out of breath? Do your hands and feet keep fairly warm?

After the ordinary exertion of the day are your feet and ankles free from swelling?

If you seem to go about your work or play, free from distress, such as giddiness, faintness, and shortness of breath, there should not be much cause for worry. If you can do all the ordinary things other people do, or that you have always done, don't let the matter of your heart get on your nerves.

Consult a heart specialist, if you wish, one who specializes on the heart only. He will likely reassure you.

Forgetting the Chickens

ODE ON SOLITUDE

Happy the man, whose wish and care
A few paternal acres bound,
Content to breathe his native air
In his own ground.

Whose herds with milk, whose fields with bread,
Whose flocks supply him with attire;
Whose trees in summer yield him shade,
In winter, fire.

Blest, who can unconcern'dly find
Hours, days, and years, slide soft away
In health of body, peace of mind,
Quiet by day.

Sound sleep by night; study and ease
Together mix'd; sweet recreation,
And innocence, which most does please
With meditation.

Thus let me live, unseen, unknown;
Thus unlamented let me die;
Steal from the world, and not a stone
Tell where I lie.

—Alexander Pope.

The Youth's New World

Kansas City Times

"I can't understand the children of today," writes a parent. "Where they get their ideas about amusement, about behavior and right and wrong is quite beyond me. What's the trouble with the young people, anyway?"

The answer is not easy. But this important fact is to be noted: The world of today is essentially different from the world of yesterday, of a generation ago. There has been a revolution in education. The person of middle life, the average parent, who had had no contact with the schools for a quarter century, would hardly recognize his whereabouts were he set down in the modern school of today. Entertainment, transportation and other facilities, many of which affect youth chiefly, have undergone similar transformations.

The child's world of today is as different from the parent's world of yesterday, almost, as day from night. Whether an advance has been made along all lines is another matter. The essential thing to recognize first of all is the difference. And the burden of recognition falls upon the parent, the older person generally who is concerned with the child. The child can't see the difference, because it knows nothing of the previous order; it is a product of today, molded by the forces about it. The person who would understand modern youth must seek to enter the world of modern youth.

The quest would be worth while. Primarily, it is a duty. But above that, it is an opportunity, an opportunity for the person of years to turn back the pages and in a sense re-live his life, refreshed and rejuvenated with something of the outlook and enthusiasm of youth. If a genuine effort were made in this direction, there would be less of the old and constantly recurring conflict between age and youth; each inclined to berate the other, and failing because the attempt has never been made to understand each other.

Worth While Verse

WISDOM

With the first tears that came with our first love—
That sorrow which is close akin to bliss;
With the faint ache that follows the first kiss,
We knew at last the grief they whispered of
Who have sung always of love's bitter-sweet—
The worm that waits for every opening rose,
Dark clouds that gather ere the sunset glows;
The pain the gods give to a love complete.

No longer was Life's meaning hid from us;
In one revealing instant we were sure
That through the years we had been very poor,
Lacking the heartbreak and the ruinous
Yet saving grief which brings the soul new power—
Knowledge that springs out of one splendid hour.

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Page

Me and Puds Simkins was setting on Mary Watkinses frunt steps tawking about different sub-jects and we started to tawk about eating, Mary Watkins saying, Personally I dont care much about eating, personally I dont see how people can think about their sum-micks the way they do.

As long as I get 3 good meals a day I never think about eating, I sed. Some people are all the time chewing on something, I sed.

Being a nock agent Puds Simkins without axually saying so, and he sed, Well Im not a harty eater either, I dont believe Id think of food if I was starving, my mother is allways worrying about me pecking at my food like a berd, its a wonder I aint all skins and bones.

Being a fearsie lie, and jest then Marys mother opened the door with a plate full of crullers, saying, Hows this for a bewtiful site, who likes home made crullers? Being bewty looking fat crullers with sugar all over the top, me saying, Well, I like crullers pritty good, theere all rite, I gess.

Not wanting to sound too inthustastic in case Mary mite get a idee I was thinking about my stumick, and Puds sed, I eat crullers occasionally once in a while, they aint so bad.

Preserving Our History

Stockton Independent

The visitor and newcomer to California, having heard much of the romance of the Golden State, is oftentimes astonished to find that so little has been done to preserve the history of a land whose development and growth are tinged with a spirit of adventure and romance, usually found in the realm of fiction.

Various other states, not comparable in any sense with California in the wealth of historical material, have organized and maintained state historical associations that throughout the years have functioned uninterruptedly. But while there have been a number of groups that have wanted to render such a service for California, after many vicissitudes, one by one they become dormant.

The latest renaissance of the California Historical Society occurred in January, 1922, when C. Templeton Crocker, Alfred Holman, John S. Drum, C. O. G. Miller, Henry R. Wagner and Dr. J. W. Robertson were the revivalists. The society has a membership of about 210 and, in addition to monthly meetings which are given over to addresses on historical subjects and discussions pertinent to California's history, the society is issuing a quarterly magazine, which is filled with interest to students and lovers of California history. The purpose of the organization is "to collect, preserve and diffuse information relating to the history of California. Headquarters are maintained at 508 Wells-Fargo building, San Francisco, and anyone is privileged to join upon payment of dues.

A resume of the history of the historical society will disclose that for years there has been an attempt to effect a permanent organization.

In 1852 the Historical Society of the State of California was organized by Stephen J. Field, Pablo de la Guerra, H. W. Halleck and others. No record of the activities of this society has been found.

In 1866 the Ethno-Historical Society of California was organized by John W. Dwinelle, John T. Doyle, H. H. Haight, J. W. Winans and Louis R. Lull. This organization lapsed.

In 1870 at the inauguration of the new hall of Santa Clara College the organization of a California or Pacific Coast historical body was suggested. Among those present were John T. Doyle, John W. Dwinelle, Tiburcio Parrott and the Rev. Father Accolti. As a result the California Historical Society was organized in 1871. In 1872 the Rev. Father Vassl was president and the society had 24 members and ceased its meetings.

In 1886 Edward S. Holden, then president of the University of California, with several associates, formed a new society with the same name, not knowing of the pre-existence of the 1870 society by reason of its inactivity. However, the fact that the previous society had been formed was soon discovered and some of the remaining members of the 1870 society joined.

with President Holden and his friends and the Holden Society was incorporated March 6, 1886, with Horace Davis as president and Bernard Moses as secretary. This society was more or less active until 1893, when it became dormant and was kept only as a name by A. S. Hubbard until his death, and after that by his son, T. W. Hubbard.

In 1892 the 1886 or Holden Society merged with the California Genealogical Society under the composite title of the California Historic-Genealogical Society. After the big fire of 1906, the library and records of the hyphenated society being destroyed, complete disorganization ensued. In 1908 a division took place, the active part resuming the title of California Genealogical Society, relegating the historical section to its previous dormant condition.

It is to be hoped that the revitalized Historical Society of California will receive the support and cooperation of all individuals and also the many organizations that have for many years been interested in preserving California history and landmarks. The Native Sons and Daughters, the California Federation of Women's Clubs and kindred organizations have done much to keep alive the history and tradition of early California. With the central organization through which all can cooperate, a magnificent accomplishment is possible.

Many localities in the state, county historical societies have been organized to preserve landmarks and history and early-day traditions. Fresno County has recently held its annual meeting and throughout the year its sessions are filled with interest, as the pioneers who still remain are asked to participate in the programs and their contributions will form a fine nucleus of what might be termed the folklore of that section.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 1—THE STORE IN THE WOODS

Mister Bags had a cute little store in the woods, and one day when Nancy and Nick were out hunting for wild flowers, they found it.

They had their magic shoes on, that's why. Without the help of magic, they never would have found it in a hundred years.

And even if they had found it, they never would have seen it, half hidden in the trunk of a big tree, with scarcely a sign of a door.

That's what magic does. It opens your eyes to lots of things, and when the Twins came along, it was not surprising that instead of a lot of rough bark, they saw a funny doorway with windows on each side simply stuffed with things.

Over the door was a sign which said "Mister" Bags—His Store—We Sell Everything But the Toothache.

Right in the front of one of the windows was a sign which said "Boy Wanted."

"That's always the way!" declared Nancy crossly. "You would think girls were in the road. They just say 'Girl wanted.'"

"Well, when he finds out that we're Twins he will take you, too," said Nick. "You're half of me—sort of."

So they opened the little door which went ting-a-lings-a-ing when they touched it, and walked right in.

And there stood a little fat man behind the counter, his glasses up over the top of his bald head, and his stomach sticking away out.

"Hello!" he said jovially. "I don't have many two-legged customers in here."

"We're four legged," said Nick quickly. "I've two and Nancy's two—that's four. And we're Twins, too—if you take me you'll have to take her for she's sort of—"

"Picks and porcupines!" cried the little fat man. "What are you talking about?"

"Why, your sign says you want a boy and we came in to see about it," said Nick.

"Picks and porcupines!" cried Mister Bags again (his name was Mister Bags). "Is that what you little monkeys are up to? After a job, eh?" And he laughed and laughed until his tummy shook like Santa Claus, and all the tin pans on the shelves rattled.

When he had stopped shaking and the pans had stopped rattling, he went on. "Well, you both look smart, and that was a bright remark you made about legs. So I'll hire you both at ten cents a week to run errands and deliver my bundles."

"Thank you," said the Twins, politely.

"Do we have to run?" asked Nancy. "Mayn't we walk sometimes?"

"Well now, I'll tell you a secret," said Mister Bags, leaning over the counter as far as his tummy would allow. "I knew all the time that you were coming. The Fairy Queen sent those shoes to you and they led you here. I'm a fairy myself, although I look more like a Brownie, I guess. All the wood people and meadow and water folk deal with me. I keep the general store for three counties and the three of us will be kept humming. Here's a customer now."
